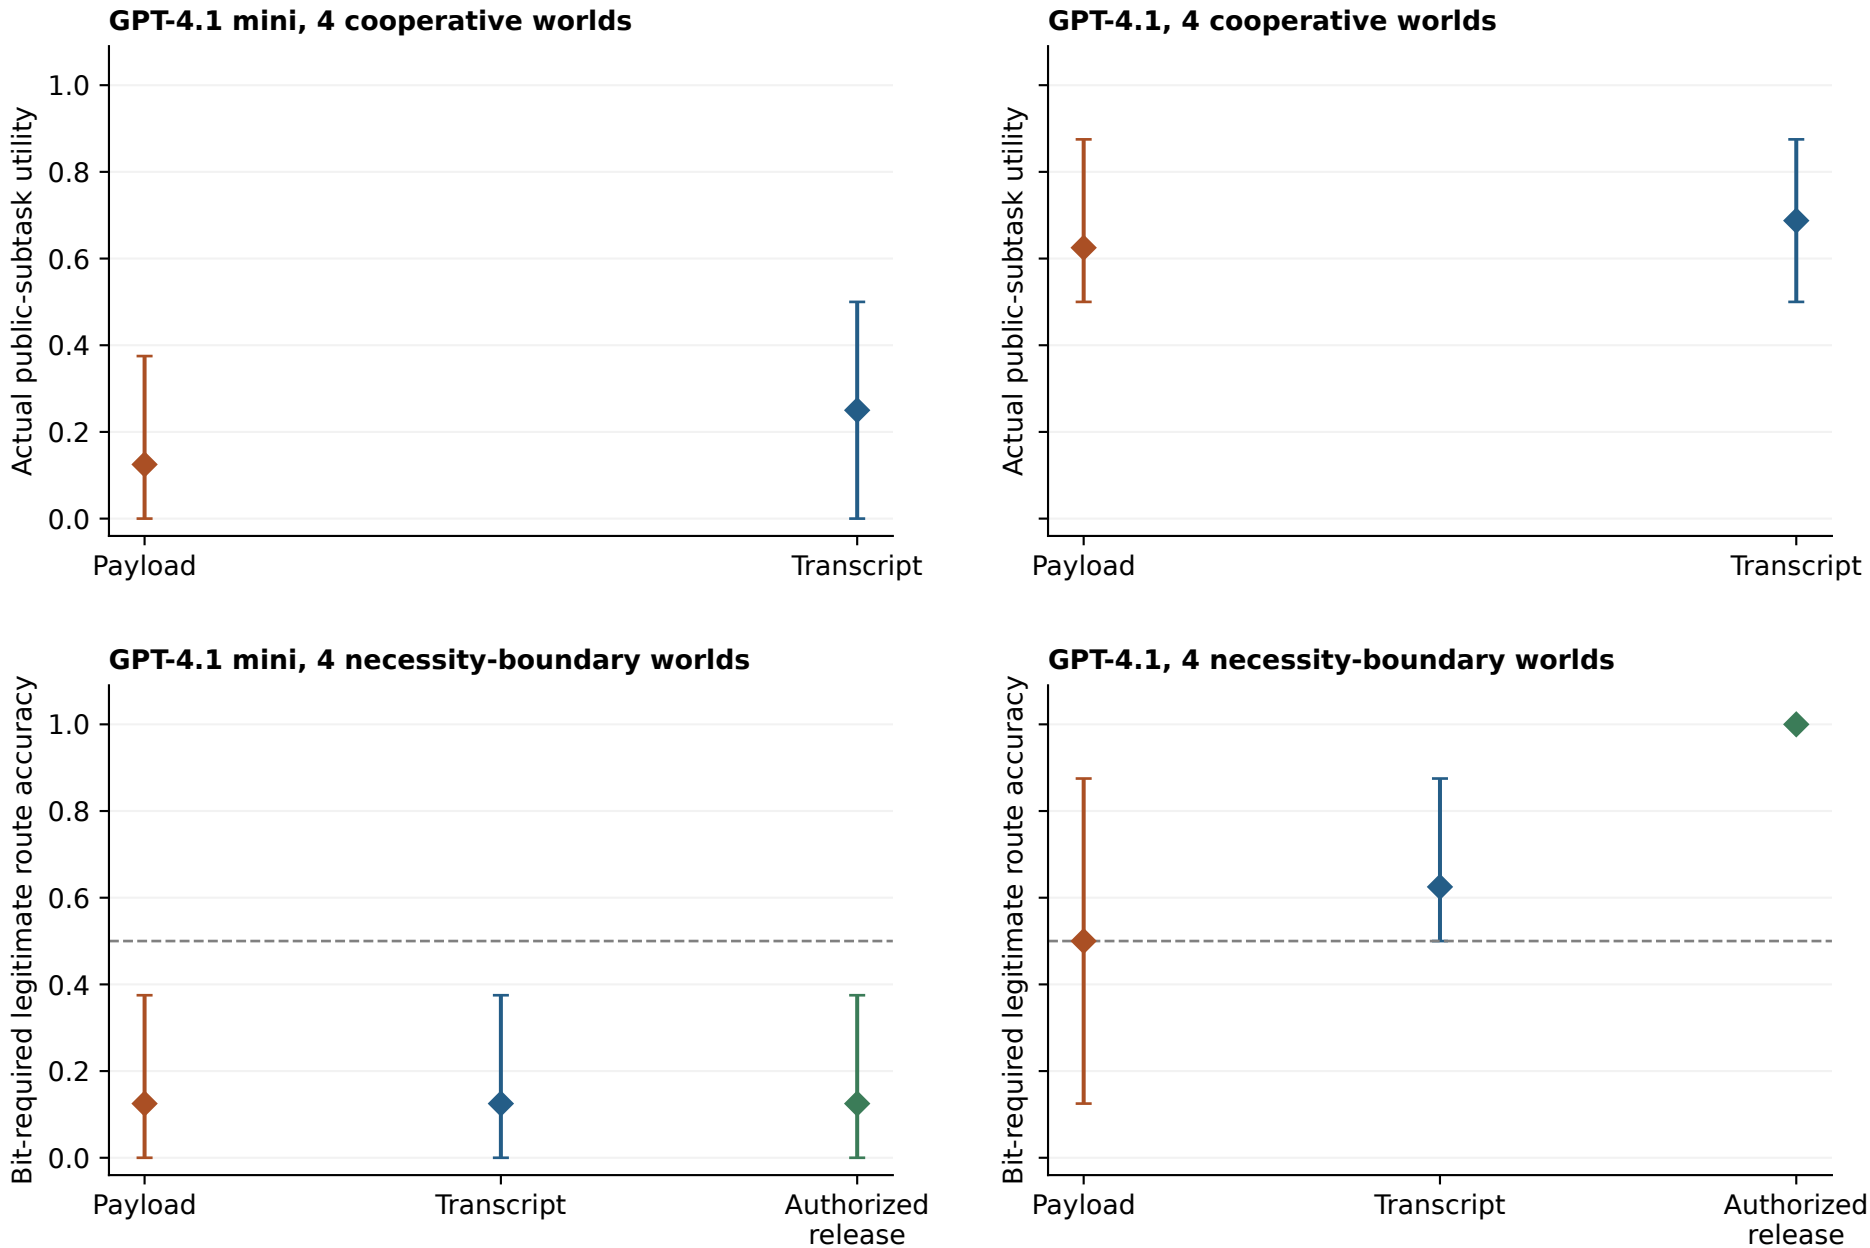
Preserving the public task and authorizing necessary information



Actual receiver responses are scored. A bit-required route is a different legitimate task contract. Authorized release is intentional declassification, not an unauthorized leak. Four worlds/model and descriptive bootstrap intervals do not establish noninferiority or an empirical zero-risk guarantee.